New energy battery aluminum end plate processing

Frequently Asked Questions

What material is used in power battery aluminum trays?

Chalco's production of power battery aluminum trays mostly uses 6-series 6061 aluminum plate as the raw material for battery aluminum trays, which can meet the characteristics of high precision, corrosion resistance, high temperature resistance, and impact resistance to protect the battery core.

What are energy power battery shells made of?

The new energy power battery shells on the market are mainly square in shape, usually made of 3003 aluminum alloy using hot rolled deep drawing process. Depending on the design requirements of the power battery, the thickness and width can be customized.

What is a power battery casing made of?

The material of the power battery casing is generally made of aluminum casing, because the aluminum casing has excellent lightweight structure, good thermal conductivity, and is safer and more durable.

Which aluminum alloy is used in power batteries?

Aluminum alloy is a commonly used material for power batteries, and there is an urgent need to focus on research, development, and upgrading of products and alloy materials. At present, the conventional aluminum alloys used in power batteries mainly include 1-series, 3-series, 5-series, and 6-series.

What is a positive electrode ear of a lithium-ion battery?

The positive electrode ear of lithium-ion batteries uses 1050 or 1060 aluminum electrode ears, with a conductivity of 369000 S/cm, which can effectively improve the rate discharge performance of the battery. The specific specifications and parameters are as follows:

How does electrode ear affect battery discharge performance?

The electrode ear is the carrier for energy transfer between the battery and the outside world, so increasing the conductivity of the electrode ear during high rate discharge can effectively improve the rate discharge performance of the battery in the early stage of discharge.
