New solar panels in Argentina

Overview

Argentina is on the verge of inaugurating its first solar panel manufacturing facility in San Juan province, a significant step towards enhancing the country's renewable energy capabilities. Argentina's Energy Secretariat has opened a national and international tender for battery energy storage systems (BESS) at grid-constrained nodes outside the Buenos Aires metropolitan area, targeting about $700 million in investment. 5 kWh/m² of solar radiation annually, they're basically sitting on a goldmine of free energy. Yet somehow, solar PV capacity only reached 2 GW by late 2024. That's like having a Ferrari and using it to deliver pizza. The state-backed factory is designed to. For a country with the abundant solar resources of Argentina, the lack of PV adoption is cause for concern.
